FOOD QUALITY & SAFETY

Wonton Food is committed to providing products of the highest quality using best practices in food processing.

A cross functional committee has been established to develop and continually improve our food safety and quality management systems to comply with present and potential customers, and the latest regulatory requirements.

To ensure food safety, we have established Food Safety Programs that are in full compliance with the industry standards. Our company participates in the strictest of inspections, from both the U.S. Government Agencies, and our valued customers. We maintain a top-notch Quality Assurance Department. We are regularly audited by our customers, and independent third-party firms such as Silliker Labs & NSF, consistently scoring a 'Superior' rating.
